Foreword

The Senior Class invited Oliver O. Owl, a first-rate Sherlock Holmes, to "60 Shady Hill" to investigate mysterious footprints found in Sharon Hill High School. Peggy Strawley, Diane Livingston, and Betteanne Moore, puzzled by the situation, brought Mr. Owl up to date on all the facts, then stood back to watch as he began his search. He got assistance from "The House Detectives," (faculty and administration) in investigating the seniors in "Rogues' Gallery." The "Possible Suspects," (underclassmen) were also taken into consideration. "Undercover Antics," (sports) and "Off-Duty Operations," (activities) got their share of the "flashlight," too, before the advertisers were put on a "Stakeout." Can you solve the mystery before Mr. Owl?

Endeavors

To start my probe, I looked into the school background. I found it could best be summed up by the four characteristics of the National Honor Society, an organization which should be the goal of all students.

Scholarship—The school is presently on a three tract system for the present junior and senior classes; but beginning with the present sophomore class, a five tract system will be used. The majority of the College Preparatory students are successful in their bid for acceptance at the college of their choice. The top Business students are taking part in a work experience program. These students spend their morning hours at school and their afternoons at various office jobs. Meanwhile, the Practical Arts students are learning skills useful for life after graduation.

Scholarship

Leadership—Elections of class and student council officers provide students with opportunities to choose their leaders while others are chosen on ability by faculty advisors.

Character—This trait is built under the guidance of teachers and parents as well as the interested members of the Sharon Hill Recreation Board.

Service—Most of the students are active participants in a variety of activities. They are fortunate in having a varied program including sports, dramatics, music and journalistic pursuits.

DEAR SHARON HILL

MARY KERR — '34

*There's a school that I love,
In a spot most fair,
My dear old Sharon Hill.*

*Within her walls I've dwelt sometime,
And seeking, found life's treasures so rare.
Through youth's golden hours you've led me aright,
With precepts divinely fair.*

*Close, close to my heart I hold the ideals,
You have enshrined with ever loving care.*

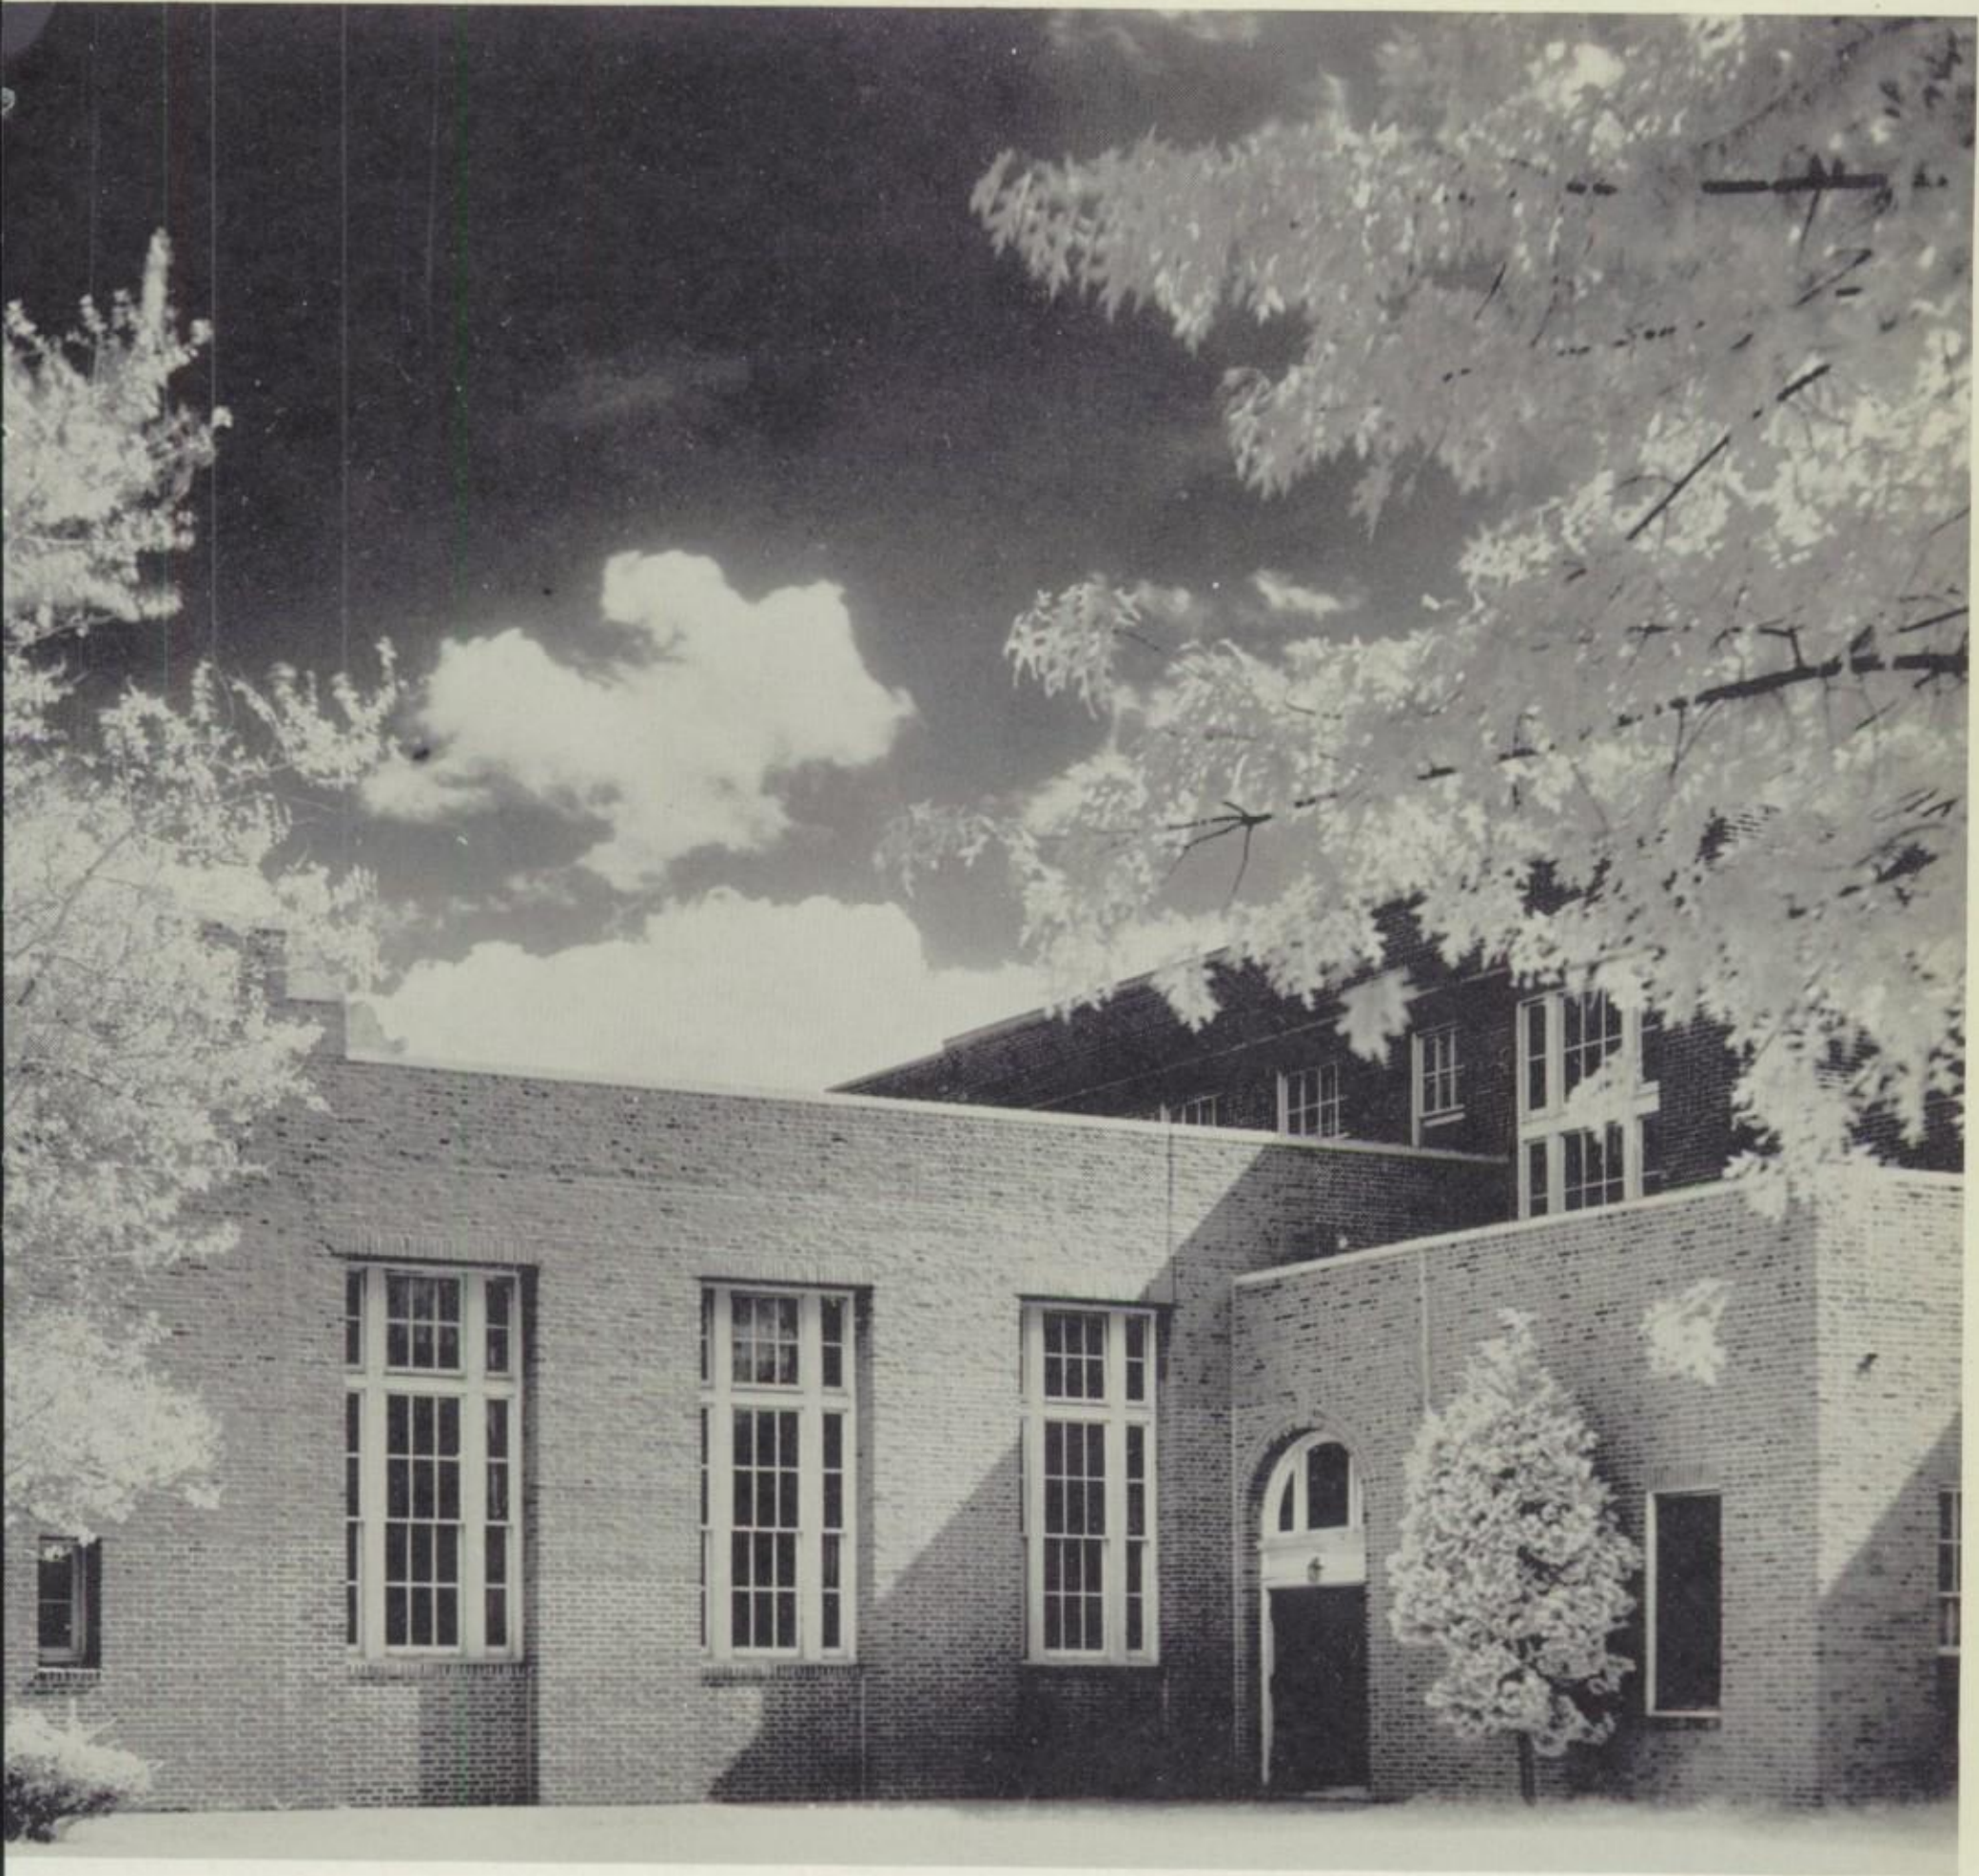

*There's a glow in our hearts as we view her there,
Midst the green and the sheen of the trees;
With her portals flung wide and halls so grand,
'Neath Old Glory flung out to the breeze grand,
The friendship of classmates and teachers so dear,
Our longings for kindness appease, the tears come.
Unbidden and silently fall,
To think that these will soon be memories.*

Chorus

*Then to dear Sharon Hill, I will give my acclaim,
That wise friend and guide of my youth.
So through all my days I will sing her praise,
She stands for Honor, Loyalty, and Truth.*

TO THE CLASS OF 1960

As Oliver O. Owl comes to the end of the trail left by the class of '60, it is evident that you have without a doubt come through an era that has endured greater scientific change than at any similar period in history.

These scientific changes have placed greater demands upon civilization and will continue to do so. Those of us who have led you through these formative years have reached the end of our responsibilities of charting your life's course.

Now that you have been graduated, the onus for success is placed upon you. It is with sincere hope that the training which has been provided for you at Sharon Hill will enable you to find your desired place in this ever-changing world.

Peter A. LeDonne
Supervising Principal

the Students' Interest

TO THE CLASS OF 1960

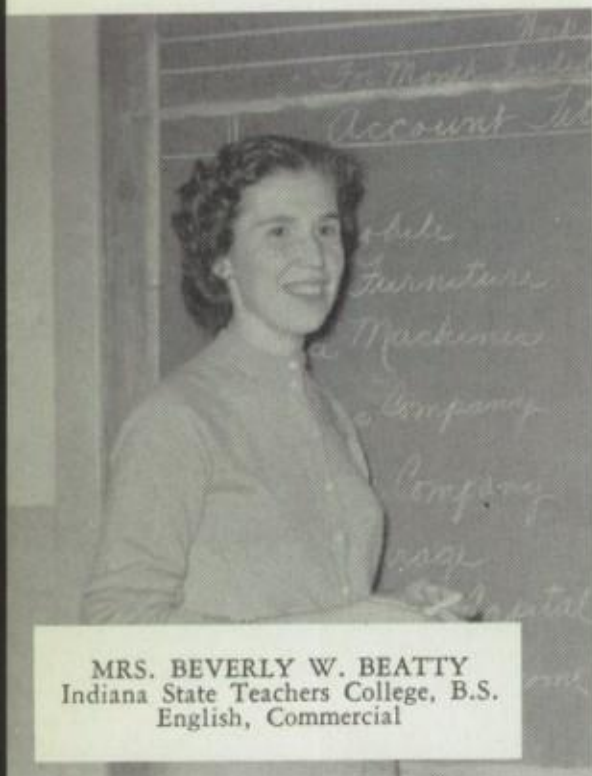

There are many things I should like to say to you, particularly those things which are said by a parent to his son or daughter at a critical time in his life. However, I have no doubt that your parents, like Polonius, have given you advice; and it would be redundant for me to echo their words. Yet I do feel as though I were your parent, and I have the same feelings at your graduation—of pleasure at your accomplishments and sorrow at your departure. Your teachers, I am sure, also share these emotional reactions.

Now as graduates, you belong to our large school family. Never can you sever the ties of responsibility to your Alma Mater. We in turn will continue to be interested in your welfare throughout your life. Your successes are also ours; therefore, strive to bring honor to yourself, your family, and your school.

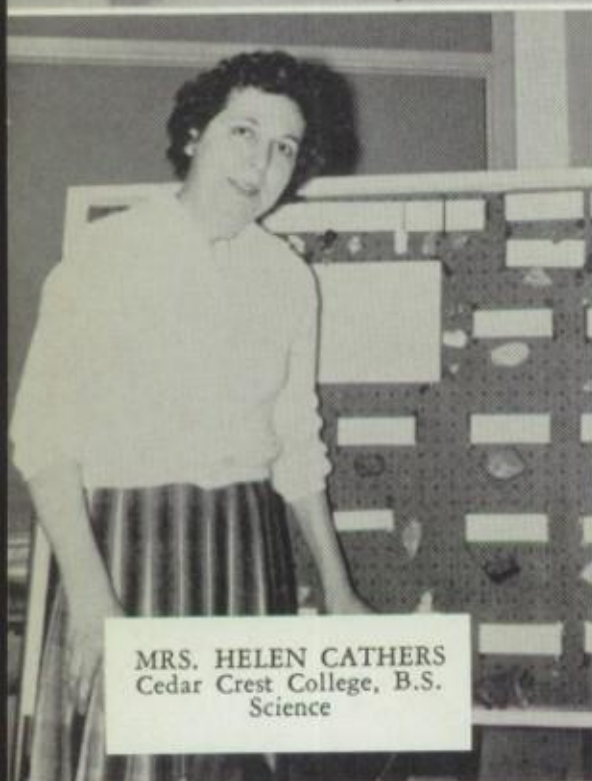

May God go with you.

Class History

Looking back in the files of the Senior class, I discovered their record was clean.

September 7, 1956 — Class members were guided by capable leaders who led them through the confusion of their freshman year. President Edmund Steel was assisted by Vice-President Richard Heller, Secretary Nancy Tengler, and Treasurer Georgeann Robinson.

September 5, 1957 — The class was strengthened by students from Colwyn and Folcroft. Edmund Steel and Richard Heller were re-elected to their offices, Stanley Chavis was chosen as Secretary, and Charles Freeman, as Treasurer. The class sold greeting cards and stationery and sponsored a record hop to boost their account.

January 11, 1958 — A realistic "Winter Wonderland" greeted couples as they danced under 1187 snowflakes in the gymnasium.

May, 1958 — After much discussion the class voted for their choice of class rings.

September 4, 1958 — The vote count revealed our Junior class officers to be Richard Heller, President; Nancy Tengler, Vice-President; Charlotte Hahn, Secretary; and Robert Grover, Treasurer.

November and December, 1958 — Mountains of candy disappeared into local homes. The sale of 1000+ boxes of candy proved to be the main money-making project of the year.

November 21, 1958 — "Picnic," the class play, was capably directed by Mr. Moore and Mr. Scholl. This controversial summer romance drew a pleased crowd of 337 for the two performances.

January 17, 1959 — Shimmering stars highlighted the "Stairway to the Stars" theme for the Junior Prom. Nancy Kramer, our regal Prom Queen, reigned as more than 50 couples enjoyed the music of The Mastertones.

September 10, 1959 — With President Robert Cox, Vice-President Robert Grover, Secretary Nancy Kramer, and Treasurer Emilie Corbin, the class set off on the final mile. The refreshment stand, football programs, and Christmas card sales increased the coffer.

March 19, 25 and 26, 1960 — Hours of practice and hard work were put into the Senior play, "Our Town." Produced "in the round," the play held the audience captivated through all three acts.

June 3, 1960 — The White Manor Country Club was the setting of the long-awaited Senior Prom. After the magic hour of twelve, we returned to school for a surprise party which continued into the wee hours of the morning. Thank you, Senior parents.

June 14, 1960 — Walking down the aisle with diplomas in hand, the Class of 1960 began a new way of life.

"PICNIC"

By William Inge

As Juniors, one of their major class undertakings was the presentation of their Junior play, "Picnic." The project got underway in mid-October with the choosing of the cast by their director, Mr. Robert Scholl. Then came the grueling task of rehearsals, as everyone endeavored to do his best to make this a memorable production in Sharon Hill play history. To make a difficult job even more trying, their work was unavoidably interrupted by the illness of their director. However, all was not yet lost. Mr. Austin B. Moore agreed to step in and finish the job. So it was that on November 21-22, 1958, the Junior Class proudly presented an excellent production of their play, "Picnic."

I came upon the Seniors busy at the dress rehearsal of their play, "Our Town." The play was presented arena style, under the capable direction of Mr. Austin B. Moore on March 19, 25, and 26, 1960.

Special: Senior

Food is always important, but especially at a football game! The Senior class found sizzling hot dogs, steaming coffee, potato chips and candy to be quite popular with the fans.

Eugene Kullich, Co-Chairman

An August trip to the N.S.P.A. conference in Washington, D.C., proved enjoyable and educational to our lucky Owl editor and assistant.

Betteanne and Diane return from the Washington trip amid raindrops and airline umbrellas.

Barbara, Janice, Diane, and Betteanne really enjoyed the Owl Christmas party! Bud, however, enjoyed the mistletoe.

Scoops

Karen and John worked hard taking charge of the Christmas card sale.

Karen Worman, Chairman

Janice, Karen, and Nancy are on duty at the card headquarters.

Senior class members discussed world situations with Dr. Hart. Mr. Young moderated the panel-discussion assembly.

Don't drop those cards, Lee!

Stairway to the Stars

The juniors and their escorts dance under the stars.

Mrs. Corbin, Mrs. Robertson, and Mrs. Moore serve refreshments during intermission.

I investigated my possible suspects. After talking to several reliable sources, I compiled my notes.

All during the year, the underclassmen were continuously busy with school sports, school activities, and class activities.

The sophomore year brought many activities because it was the beginning of senior high. The sophs sold greeting cards to pad their treasury for their first prom, the Soph Hop.

The junior year brought even more excitement. The main money makers were the selling of Christmas candy and the Junior play. This gave the actors and actresses a chance to display their talents. Of course, the climax of the junior year was the Junior Prom. All the work involved with these projects was pleasantly forgotten on this special night.

Both years, they work for one goal, a wonderful senior year.

In order for me to get the complete data on all of my possible suspects, I investigated the students of the junior high.

Of course, the newest members of the school were the seventh graders. Full of energy, personality, and school spirit, these neophytes were active in all the sports, clubs, and musical organizations.

This year the junior high had their own newspaper, the Chit Chat, which was published by the eight-one class.

During the fall, the ninth grade sponsored a dance in order to start building up their class treasury.

The student council invited the entire junior high school to a semi-formal dance, the Junior High Frolic, in the spring.

From all indications, the enthusiasm they have shown this year will carry over to continue the tradition of an active Sharon Hill student body.

In my investigation, I found that one of the most important activities of the high school was the Student Council.

In the spring of 1959, the student body registered in the political party of their choice, the Gold Party or the Purple Party. Ambitious office candidates also chose sides, campaigned first for victory within their own party, and then joined other party hopefuls in the all-school campaign.

With the officers already elected, the Student Council began the school year with homeroom elections. Thus, the Student Council was formed.

This year the council sponsored many activities during the school year. During the year, there were victory dances, a charity dance, and the Sadie Hawkins dance.

They also sent representatives to conferences at Yeadon High School and Owen Roberts High School to get new ideas to make their Student Council more efficient.

During the spring months, the council sponsored Tag Day and the May Day Dance. These were just a few of the functions for which the Sharon Hill Student Council was responsible.

This year the activity continued to uphold the high standards for which it was formed.

NEW TEACHERS WELCOMED

SOMETHING NEW
HAS BEEN ADDED

One of the new teachers, whom we greeted on September 10, was Miss Florence E. Fugate.

Miss Fugate is our new home-ec teacher. She is a graduate of Ambler High School and Drexel Institute of Technology in Philadelphia. During her stay in college, Miss Fugate majored in home-ec education. She belonged to the Women's Student government for the three years and was also a member of the glee club. So after her graduation from college she toured Europe covering six major countries.

The other schools who were privileged to have Miss Fugate as a faculty member were: Harding Junior High School and Kensington High School for Girls. She lives in Upper Darby.

While most of us were enjoying a carefree vacation this summer with thoughts of school the farthest from our minds, our school could be heard humming with the sounds of the workers who, though very busy, were just thinking of us and our return to school this fall.

The fruit of their labors was apparent to most of us immediately, for as soon as we entered the building we were greeted by the pleasing sight and scent of walls, freshly painted in cool pastel shades, a most welcome addition, to Sharon Hill High School.

Later, as the school year got under way, other improvements came to light before us. The curtains on the stage in our auditorium with drapes for the windows to match are new this year, an add greatly to the effects.

In accordance with the recommendation made to the Fire Marshall after his inspection of our school last year, as well as that of the Evaluation Committee, we have had some new fire doors installed. They are located outside of Room 21 and 34 on the first floor. Just by way of reminder: These fire door can only serve their purpose if they are kept shut at all times when not in October 7—The students of Sharon Hill High School read the first edition of the Sha-Hi. To get the inside information, I talked with Janice Melville, assistant editor, who stated, "My co-workers and I worked extensively through the month of September to put out the first paper.

"To get some of the articles we published, Linda Johnson, our very competent editor, and I had to get interviews on subjects outside the school. Of course, we mostly wrote about the school functions and the students, besides these special interviews."

I also discovered in my thorough investigation that the students received a Sha-Hi every month of the school year for a complete coverage of the school activities.

I found nothing to arouse suspicion in my interview, so decided to follow my next clue.

I inspected one of the outstanding musical groups of S.H.H.S., the Senior Chorus. With approximately 80 students of the Senior High School participating, it was the largest choral group in the school's history.

Often encouraged and sometimes reprimanded by Miss Dalton, the Chorus' devoted directress, this group met faithfully every Monday morning. They rehearsed their parts in the numerous musical selections which must be prepared in order for them to maintain a high standard of performance. There are many good programs given by the Senior Chorus each year.

Besides their regular Monday morning meetings, I learned that many members of this hard-working group must come early in the morning to rehearse special parts while preparing for one of their special performances.

Almost every afternoon twenty-seven enthusiastic hockey players were found on the field working hard to improve their game until darkness drove them to the locker room. Under the capable coaching of Miss Knopf and Miss O'Donnell, the girls brought several victories home to Sharon Hill.

Rising above defeat at the hands of Ridley Park, the Hillers romped to victory over a powerful Eddystone team and followed it up with one over arch-rival Collingdale.

But defeat again raised its ugly head as the Hillers lost to Darby. Then came a rainy-day tie with Yeadon where the girls spurred from behind to tie.

Darkness reigned again over the Hillers as they went down to defeat at the hands of Interboro and Swarthmore.

Showing the true Sharon Hill spirit, the girls scored a surprise upset over favored Clifton Heights, thus ending their season with a victory.

JOHN KELLEY STARS

Owls Surprise Collingdale For Sharon Hill

COLLINGDALE — Quarterback John Kelley staged a brilliant exhibition of running and passing Thursday morning to give Sharon Hill an 18-0 victory over Collingdale in the 17th meeting between the two schools.

The Colls hold a slight edge in the rivalry, 10 victories to seven.

Kelley plunged for one touchdown and passed to Freddy Grau and John Bollinger for two more to pace the attack. A fourth TD by Coach Bob Young's inspired Owls was called back because of a penalty.

The game gave each team a season record of 3-6-0 and concluded a fine comeback by the Hillers who won three of their last five games after dropping the first four.

LONG DRIVE

Sharon Hill staged a 14-play, 60-yard march in the second period for its first touchdown. Kelley carried five times for 27 yards on the drive and passed for 11 more yards before ramming over from the 1.

After a short Colls' punt, the Owls began another drive from midfield. A clipping penalty temporarily stalled the attack before Kelley passed to Andy Ohlson for 25 yards to the 14.

SHARON HILL — After four successive weekends of clouds and storms, the sun finally broke through in all its magnificent glory for Bob Young's Sharon Hill High School Owls, who registered their first win of the 1959 campaign on Saturday, here, by turning back Ye 13-7, in a major surprise.

The setback was the first in Section IV

After a scoreless first half Sharon Hill broke the ice with a third period touchdown when quarterback John Kelley passed 25 yards to halfback Bobby Cox, who pulled in the oval on the Eagle 14 and ran the remaining distance for a six-pointer, capping a 20-yard march.

Kelley then passed to end John Bollinger for 17 yards to make the score 13-0.

SHARON HILL FOOTBALL REPORT

—By Oliver O. Owl

Enthusiasm ran high when the Owls opened their seasonal premier after approximately three weeks of hard practice with the usual bumps and bruises.

Fortune neglected the Hillers during the early contests as they were subdued continually by Interboro, Ridley Park, and St. James. However, these setbacks failed to dampen the boys' spirits as they lost a heartbreaker to a powerful Darby team, 25-19.

They ended their famine by scoring in the victory column when they upset Yeadon, 13-7. Prosperity continued as the Owls battled a win over Swarthmore, 20-7.

Gloom hung once more over the fighting team as they became the victim of non-leagued Media and dynamic Clifton Heights.

Happy shouts were once more heard as Sharon Hill outplayed and out-scored the neighboring rival, Collingdale. The 18-0 win in the annual Thanksgiving Classic gave them possession of the Gold Shoe for the second straight year. During the entire season the team showed consistent improvement and the never-say-die spirit as they reflected the excellent coaching of Mr. Young, Mr. Savastano, and Mr. Stengel.

Where's that ball?

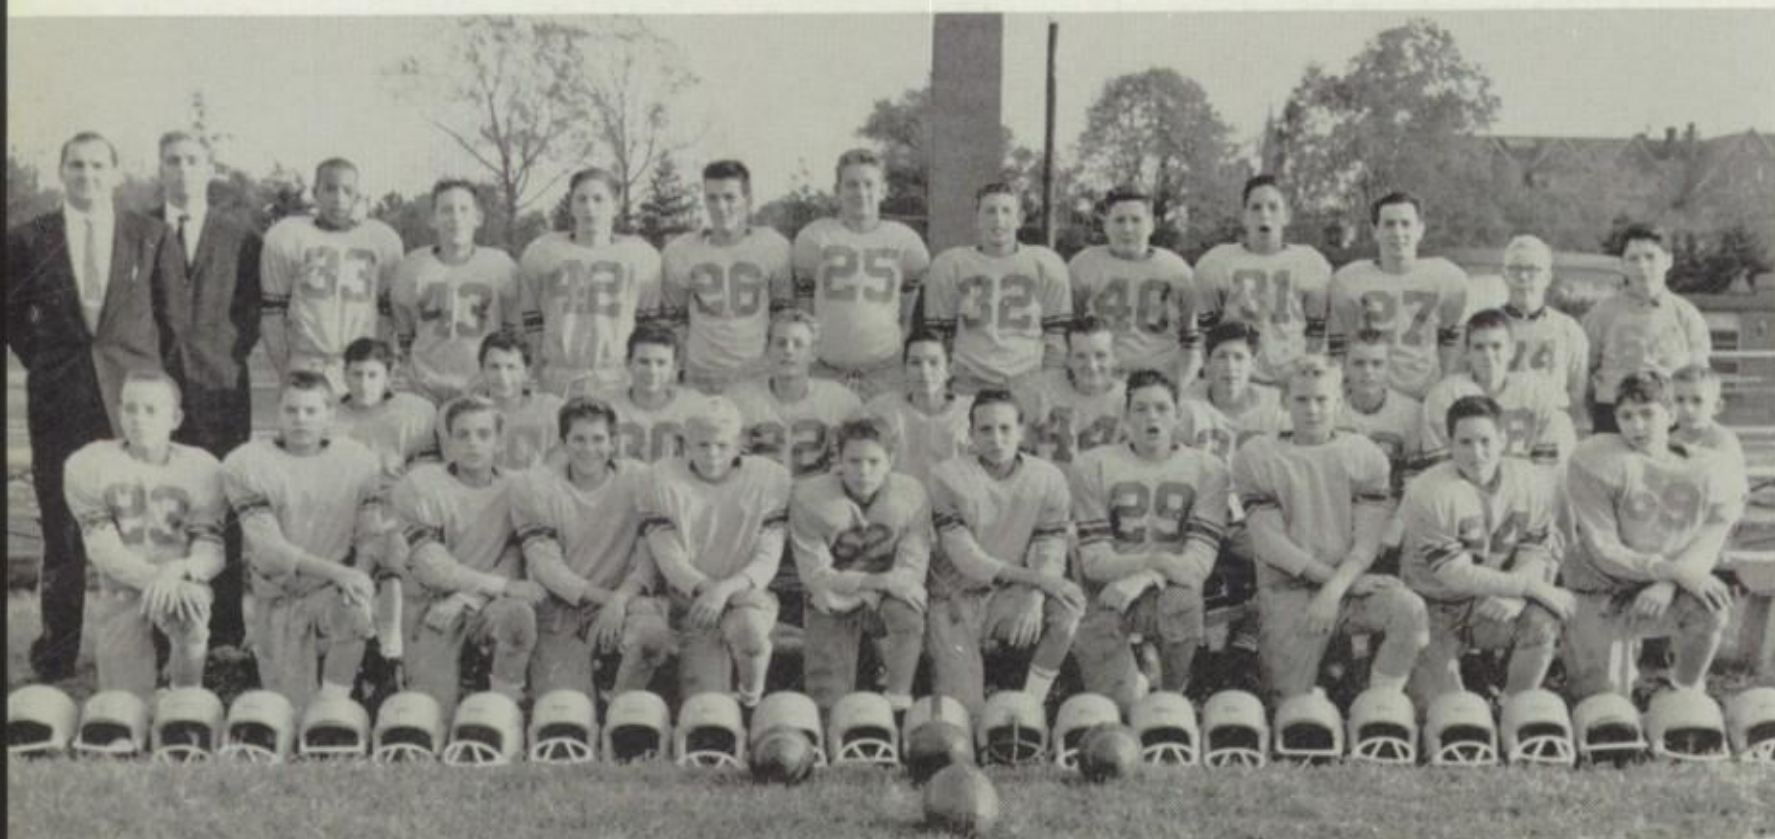

Trapped! John Kelley (27) tries to escape the clutches of his leaping opponent.

Will he make it? Fred Grau (32) sprints for the goal line.

Mr. Park—Coach

After scavenging through stacks of newspapers, I compiled the basketball report.

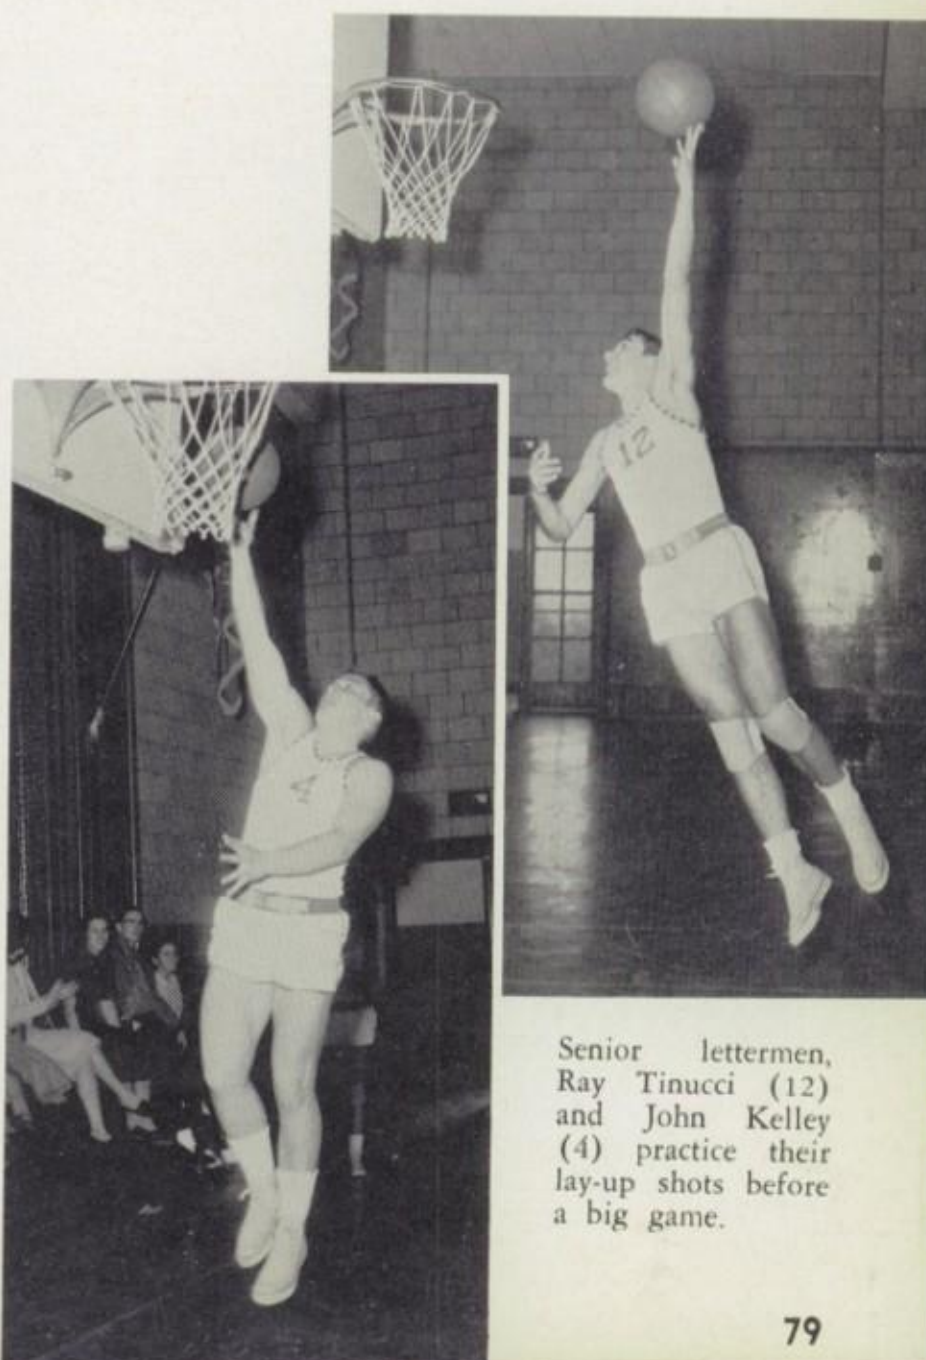

In the onset of the season, Sharon Hill's outlook was quite promising. They had a fighting team, a dedicated coach, and the school spirit to make a very successful season. But did they have that extra special something to go "all the way" and "cop" the section crown?

Well, they did! On the night of Feb. 12, the Sharon Hill Owls clinched the Section Four basketball title by downing a fired-up Yeadon outfit, 54-52. This crown was captured through the leadership and ball handling of John Kelley, the fine defense play of Ray Tinucci, the terrific scoring ability of Brent Kitching, the outside sharp shooting of Glenn Sowell, the splendid all-round play of John Bollinger, and the bench support which was sparked by the ever-dependable Leo Sullivan.

This team played the brand of ball that gave them 14 straight wins and an over-all record of 17-2.

The school was further honored by Brent Kitching's capturing of the individual scoring crown in Delaware County Conference Play.

But none of this success would have occurred without the devoted coaching of Mr. Park and the fighting spirit of the team.

Senior lettermen, Ray Tinucci (12) and John Kelley (4) practice their lay-up shots before a big game.

I concluded my investigations of the Undercover Antics with the girls' basketball team. After many weeks of intense practice under the capable coaching of Miss Knopf, the girls were ready for their first game with Ridley Park. After a tough fight, the Owlettes came out on the lower end of the score. But with the true Hillers' spirit of "never say die," they fought back to win in an exciting game with arch-rival Collingdale. Due to injuries the following games were not up to expectation until the final game when the Owlettes swamped a favored Clifton Heights team, 52-35.

Hurrah! The 1960 OWL is finally finished. Don't get the wrong idea from that picture; we did work a little. Honest!

The staff and I have undergone a tremendous experience by creating this book, our OWL. Each time we glance at our book, we'll be reminded of the many memories we gleaned from this one final year—those dreadful deadlines, the many disagreements among ourselves, and the wonderful people who made the 1960 OWL possible.

Because we were inexperienced and inquisitive, the advice of Mr. Jobson, our Taylor Publishing Company representative, was more than welcome. The cooperation from Sarony Studio and the time that Mr. Almond spent helping Hal and Ralph with the informal photography will never be forgotten.

The staff was extremely fortunate by having Lee Chavis, our most able ad cartoonist, and Tom Hoffman, our "go-getter" of the ad staff, who pulled us through our first deadline. Carol Waldie and Peggy Strawley were always willing to leave their classes to help with the typing or run errands.

It seems as though our Moms and Dads were always keeping dinner warm for us after those late afternoon meetings. They never minded those long decisive telephone conversations which we were always having, either.

We appreciate the help we received from the boosters, the patrons, and the advertisers. Without their help, this book would not have been possible.

We hope we didn't become too much of a nuisance to the administration and the faculty, who were always willing to help us in any way they could.

Last, but not least, how can we forget Mrs. Beatty, our advisor, food provider, and "Dear Abby."

To all of you, the gang and I say, "Thank you for the 1960 OWL."

Ray Tinucci congratulates John Kelley who was victorious in the afternoon's track meet, and therefore was crowned May King.

On this beautiful thirteenth day of May, the annual May Day celebration was held. At the start of the afternoon, a track meet was held pitting the Purple Team (captained by John Kelley) against the Gold Team (captained by Raymond Tinucci) to determine the May King.

Lovely Pamela Parker, voted May Queen by the entire student body, was crowned by John Kelley. She was attended by her court which consisted of Charlotte Burk, Nancy Kramer, Diane Livingston, Judith Mitchell, Margaret Strawley, Barbara Stuart, Sandra Toogood, and Carol Waldie. Dances were performed by the junior and senior high girls dressed in lovely pastel colored gowns and ballet costumes.

The May Day Dance in honor of the Queen climaxed a beautiful day.

Near the end of my investigation, I looked in on the girls' softball team. I found the team, composed mainly of freshmen and seniors, preparing for their games. The first game with Interboro was a thriller as Sharon Hill won in the bottom half of the last inning on a big rally. Then the Hillers suffered bad luck in successive losses to Lansdowne, Chichester and Lansdowne again. Due to the rainy weather the Owlettes' final three games were canceled.

The baseball games were

Hey! Watch that man!

Faster, Bobby! You can make it.

Along with the changing of the weather came a new sport to follow for all sports enthusiasts. And being a fan of all S.H.H.S. sports, I naturally followed all the exciting baseball games.

I truly believe that Sharon Hill had the most nerve-racking games I have ever attended, and I know the team's devoted coach, Mr. Hamilton, will certainly agree. At the beginning of the season the home team had a powerful start, winning three games out of the first four games all by narrow margins. Then gloom crept over the team when the narrow margins turned in the opposite directions. The Owls lost five of their games by one run. In the league they ended their season with the record of five wins and eight losses.

Each day as I walked home from school, I noticed the track team working very ardently. There were many seniors running around the track, high jumping, and broad jumping. Many of them, along with a number of sophomores, won their letters. I found out later that even though the team won only one dual meet, many of the players excelled individually.

The school was honored by Richard Heller, who won the Class "B" Broad Jumping Championship at the all-state meet held at Penn State.

On the night of June 14, I saw the auditorium fill to its capacity with parents, relatives, and friends of the eighty-two seniors who were about to graduate from Sharon Hill High School.

After the seniors received their diplomas and were walking down the aisle, I couldn't help shedding a few tears myself because I, too, would now leave S.H.H.S. to newer and bigger things.

I give my congratulations to Betteanne Moore, selected as Valedictorian and Alberta Taggart, Salutatorian. And before my departure, I would like to wish the Class of '60" all the success and joys in their future sphere of activities.
